

Demara B. Stamler – Director of Accreditation

Extension, 137

Ms. Stamler joined the staff of NACCAS as Director of Accreditation in September 2008. Prior to coming to NACCAS she was the Executive Director of the Potomac Massage Training Institute (PMTI) from March 2000 to May 2008. As Executive Director of PMTI she was responsible for oversight of the training programs, clinic operations, public and professional workshops, research programs and professional products retail. During her tenure she was also responsible for accreditation and re-accreditation of the institution. In a related area, Ms Stamler served as an on-site evaluator subject matter expert in academics and school administration for a national accrediting agency and was also a member of a subcommittee for that agency that was responsible for reviewing member schools' annual reports. In addition, Ms Stamler was an elected member of a national council of massage therapy schools for six (6) years.