

Tony Mirando, MS, DC – NACCAS Executive Director

- Bachelor of Science in Liberal Studies - S.U.N.Y, Albany, New York.
- Master of Science in Organizational Leadership and Innovation - Marymount University, Arlington, Virginia.
- Doctorate in Chiropractic - Sherman College, Spartanburg, South Carolina.

Dr. Mirando has been the Executive Director of the National Accrediting Commission of Career Arts & Sciences, Inc. (NACCAS) since March, 2008. He has over thirty years of proven performance and effective management techniques across an array of industries, including 9 years in association management, 10 years in post-secondary accreditation and 4 years as an executive coach, training CEO, CFO, and other Senior Executives to realize their professional potential and maximize their efficiency by helping them work through and solve critical road-blocks. He was the Chairman of the District of Columbia Board of Chiropractic for eight years, and in 2009-10 he was selected as the Primary Non-Federal Negotiator representing all the national accrediting agencies at the Department of Education Negotiated Rulemaking Committee hearings on “Program Integrity” in Washington, D.C.